Wine Consumption in the Mediterranean Diet: A clarification about health effects 4 - 5 June 2020

The organizing committee of the “Wine Consumption in the Mediterranean Diet: A clarification about health effects” 2020 is proud to announce that an amazing program is being prepared. If you did not submit your abstract yet, you can do it in conference webpage. You can be one of the 5 chosen speakers and you can win several prizes. The first prizes announced are sponsored by Food & Function journal. Food & Function is delighted to be sponsoring prizes at the Wine Consumption and Mediterranean Diet conference. The five chosen speakers from the abstracts submitted will receive a certificate and a free 12 months e-subscription to the journal Food & Function. The selected overall winner of best oral presentation will also receive a copy of the book “Complete Science Communication: A Guide to Connecting with Scientists, Journalists and the Public”. We look forward to seeing you at Science & Wine 2020 in the exciting and historical cities of Vila Nova de Gaia and Porto, which provides an unforgettable environment for the Congress.
